

Africa and the Trump Presidency

Prof. Paul R. Masson
Weatherstone Consulting

Executive Summary

The new American administration has indicated its intention to make radical changes to US policies that would shake up the post-war world order. African countries should consider carefully how they can mitigate unfavorable effects and take advantage of potential opportunities.