

Charles has extensive work experience in technical land information and Human Settlement development. His working career started at Surveyor-General (Cape Town) in 1991. In 1996 he moved to the City of Cape Town and later headed a regional team responsible for technical property investigations. He was later transferred to the Human Settlement directorate to manage human settlement land matters and was responsible for identifying and acquiring land for future human settlement development. In 2006 he joined Provincial Government as a Deputy-Director, Western Cape–Human Settlement where his role amongst other was to initiate and facilitate innovative human settlement development.

Charles joined Absa Bank at the beginning of 2008 as a Development Manager and headed the coastal team. His responsibilities included the acquisition and management of housing projects. He later assumed a national role doing the same. This role comprised of wide ranging responsibilities with a cradle to grave approach to development.

In March 2016 he joined Spark Supports Services who contracted with Old Mutual Alternative Investments where he was employed as Development Facilitator and Asset Manager. The arrangement came to an end in April 2017.

In 2019 he headed the Programme and advocacy Departments at Habitat For Humanity South Africa where we partnered with government to create dignified sustainable living conditions for marginalised families and communities. The aim was to connect the social fabric of society with the built environment and to improve socio-economic conditions of the most vulnerable in our society.

Currently Charles is the Managing Director of Bardale Village Development where we execute residential development in the broader Kuilsriver area in Cape Town. Our aim is to deliver vibrant, safe, and well balanced neighbourhoods, designed with families top of mind.

He holds a Bachelor's Degree in Land Surveying, Master's Degree in Public Management (2015), Master's Degree in Development Finance (2018) and is pursuing in MSc in Property Studies, with the mini-thesis outstanding to fulfil the graduation criteria.
